

Delaware Office of State Planning Coordination Launches new website

The Delaware Office of State Planning Coordination (OSPC) is proud to unveil our redesigned website Friday, August 31, 2018. This redesign improves the way information is delivered to citizens, developers and municipal stakeholders. A key objective of the redesigned site is to enable users to access our information from any device (PC, mobile phone, or tablet). The new website includes a GIS based tool for searching and finding Preliminary Land Use Service \(PLUS\) project information which significantly improves the user's experience. Also included in the redesign is a Comprehensive Plan Database which provides links to documents related to the adopted and certified comprehensive plans and plan amendments from all local jurisdictions. Please visit the new OSPC website to learn more about the office and services we offer.
